Director / Owner

“You HAVE to ... dance like there’s no one watching and teach from the heart to be heard”. Ms Kelly was bit by the dance bug and began dancing at the age of three. She continued to study many different styles of dance under various teachers and well-known choreographers across Canada and the United States. She quickly discovered her passion for teaching and began her own dance school in 2000. Her students have grown tremendously over the years and she couldn’t be more proud. She continues her own dance education at every opportunity believing “the more I can learn the more I can teach”.
