

Lindsay Fraser

Owner/Artistic Director (Elle Dance Academy)

Lindsay has been dancing since the age of three and teaching since the age of 15. Upon graduation of high school Lindsay was accepted into the Bachelor of Fine Arts program in Contemporary Dance at Concordia University in Montreal. Despite being terrified of leaving home and moving to the big city alone, she couldn't turn down this opportunity. Concordia shaped her passion for choreography and creativity and soon after she began free lance choreography in Nova Scotia. Lindsay also attended the school of Toronto Dance Theatre and took classes at Broadway Dance Centre and Alvin Ailey in NYC. She is currently in the process of becoming a certified ADAPT instructor. "Do it the same but better," is Lindsay's motto in class and she strongly believes that every time you step into the studio you should have the opportunity to be challenged and improve!
